

Children play on a

Before you

1 Work in pairs. Is it important?

- 1 intercultural people
- 2 self-aware and your
- 3 courage being fri
- 4 putting y to imagin
- 5 being op opinions
- 6 not getti change e

While you w

2 1 Watch the people more than c

courage curiosity self-aware

- 1 Emma Do
- 2 Elmer Dix
- 3 Patricia Co
- 4 Mowad

موضوع الدرس _____ اليوم _____ التاريخ _____

P: 28

Q1: Putting yourself in someone else's shoes (Is the most important). Because being able to truly understand others (empathy) helps you with almost all the other skills:

- a) It makes your intercultural skills better.
- b) It makes you open to new ideas.
- c) It helps you deal with others in difficult times, which can prevent stress.

Q2: 1] Emma Dodwell-Groves → Self-awareness.
2] Elmer Dixon → Cross-Cultural communication.
3] Patricia Coleman → Courage / Going deep inside.
4] Mowad → Exposing yourself.
5] Kronne van der pul → Staying open.
6] Abby Beckley → Desire to learn.
7] Pari Nemazie → Questioning / open mindedness.

Q3: 1) bubble / 2) assumptions / 3) gaps
4) divided / 5) shoes / 6) ^{take} ~~open~~ / 7) bitterness
8) open.

موضوع الدرس _____ اليوم _____ التاريخ _____ / /

Your Ideas :

In my opinion, No, I don't live in a bubble, because the people I interact with have different ideas and thinks in different ways. However, my family is similar to me because we generally think alike
and share the same mindset.